++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cold, dry, with sunny spells developing.

Today:
Risk of icy stretches on untreated surfaces, and widespread mist and low cloud at first, with isolated showers across Kent. The gloomy conditions will gradually lift and break, allowing sunny spells to develop for most areas. But remaining cold everywhere. Maximum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Tonight:
With the largely clear skies, and light winds, temperatures will quickly fall with a widespread sharp frost developing, patchy freezing fog, and a risk of ice on untreated surfaces. Minimum temperature -6 deg C (21 deg F).

Sunday:
Frosty start with patchy freezing fog. Then sunny spells for many areas, although some patchy fog may linger, especially in the south, while further north cloud will gradually increase. Cold. Maximum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Monday dry initially with patchy frost and fog, then becoming cloudy with outbreaks of rain arriving. Tuesday, mainly dry, bright and cold before rain arrives during Wednesday. Becoming noticeably milder.
